Stassen Leads State Primary Write-In Vote

Gov. Dewey Is Closest Opponent In Write-In Competition Tuesday

MARTIN AND TAFT ARE ALSO NAMED

By TOM R. BRISLIN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—The Presidential bandwagon of Harold E. Stassen took on its first triumph in the east today as he gained an insurmountable lead in Pennsylvania's Republican Presidential write-in primary.

Late returns from remote precincts augmented his pluralities in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, thus stretching his political rainbow from Nebraska in the west, over Wisconsin in the midwest, and the Keystone state in the east.

Despite the fact that Pennsylvania's 73-man delegation to the GOP convention will be unpledged, the write-in vote for Stassen was interpreted as a clear indication of growing support for his candidacy.

His closest opponent was Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, with Sen. Edward Martin, Pennsylvania's favorite son, running third, and Sen. Robert A. Taft, trailing a poor fourth.

With more than two-thirds of the states 3262 precincts reporting, the former Minnesota governor's lead over Dewey climbed well over 13,000 votes.

President Truman was the only Presidential candidate of either major party whose name actually appeared on the ballot.

Voters were given the opportunity of writing-in their Presidential preference, but thousands passed up the chance.

For that reason, political observers insisted that the Stassen victory could not be classed as conclusive, though they did regard his showing as "remarkably surprising."

Just a year ago today, an extremely heavy frost was noted, which did a lot of damage in the local district, the temperature getting down to 23 degrees. However, there was still a good bit of fruit last year, which gives hopes for a nice crop this year, unless a real freeze comes along.

Reading the item in Pa Newc column Tuesday evening about clock in tower of First Christian church on the Public Square, Mont Rogers of North Crawford avenue states that the clock face on the south side of the tower has not shown the correct time for several months.

Few Voters Turn Out At Primary In Massachusetts

BOSTON, April 28.—(INS)—The Massachusetts presidential primaries appeared today to have produced little more than a possible revision of the state's election laws.

With both Democratic and Republican delegates to the presidential conventions unpledged, less than seven per cent of the Bay State's 2,400,000 voters bothered to cast ballots.

State legislative leaders, alarmed by the fact that the trivial election cost the state treasury a half million dollars, are reported considering a change.

Mystery Death Being Probed

New York Socialite Found Dead On Beach—Cause Of Death Mystery

NEWPORT, R. I., April 28.—(INS)—An inquest scheduled in Newport today is expected to throw light on the mystery of how Mrs. George Eustis Paine, 52-year-old New York socialite, met her death on a beach near her Rhode Island estate.

Mrs. Paine, whose husband is a banker, insurance company director and pulpwood magnate, was found dead yesterday on the lonely beach while New York City police were conducting a search for her.

A preliminary autopsy failed to determine the cause of death, but Rhode Island authorities said she had not drowned, although she had been in the water, and there were no apparent marks of violence on the body.

Washington Twp. Barn Is Consumed As Lightning Hits

Structure Is Destroyed During Storm Early Tuesday Evening

Fire, caused when a bolt of lightning struck at 9 p. m. Tuesday, consumed an auxiliary barn on the property of Grover Stevenson, Washington township.

The flames quickly spread to baled and loose hay stored in the building and within a matter of minutes the structure was a blazing inferno, visible for miles.

The owner stated that approximately 150 head of sheep, including 60 lambs, were in the barn, but it is believed that most of these escaped.

At 11 p. m. they were still unaccounted for, but neighbors informed Mr. Stevenson that they saw the animals fleeing from the blaze.

Also lost in the flames were two wagons, a sheep-dipping tank and a reaper. The bolt penetrated the slate roof of the building and according to the owner, the first flash seemed to ignite the hay on the barn floor.

So rapidly did the flames spread that no fire-fighting equipment could be summoned or brought into play.

Seidel, Neff, Brice And Hensley Win In Local Party Primaries Tuesday

Harold F. Seidel of Ellwood City won the Republican nomination for State Senate in the Beaver-Lawrence district Tuesday in a decisive victory over John C. Miller of Aliquippa.

Seidel's combined vote for the 212 precincts in the Lawrence-Beaver County district was 9,830, and Miller's 6,982.

The Democratic nomination race saw candidates from the same cities and Samuel G. Neff, of Ellwood City, defeated the present State Senator, Louis E. Klein of Aliquippa by a vote of 3,704 to 1,993.

Brice Wins
Assemblyman James C. Brice won the Republican nomination for re-election to the General Assembly from New Castle in a three-cornered fight.

Mr. Brice polled 3,034 votes in the 42 New Castle precincts, Charles B. Mayne polled 2,089 and Earl R. Wimer polled 1,068.

Mr. Seidel's victory was predicted but by a far smaller margin than he achieved. This was his first bout in the political arena and the result surpassed all estimates of his friends.

He carried 98 of the 99 Lawrence County precincts with tremendous majorities. His home town of Ellwood City went all out for him, giving him 1010 votes to 128 for Miller, an almost unbelievable majority of approximately 10 to one.

New Castle and the rural districts rolled up huge majorities for him also, but nothing like Ellwood City did. Percentage wise, Mr. Seidel won in Lawrence County by about 3½ to one.

In Beaver County Mr. Miller carried by two to one but oddly enough Beaver County with half again as much population as Lawrence did not poll as heavy a vote. Seidel, 2,443 in Beaver County and Miller, 848.

Mr. Seidel's victory in his home county was an over all one. From one end of the county to the other the Lawrence Republicans stayed with their home county candidate and the result was success for Mr. Seidel.

Neff Wins
On the Democratic side Samuel G. Neff of Ellwood City scored an impressive victory over Louis E. Klein of Ellwood City.

In his home town of Ellwood City Mr. Neff polled 382 votes to Klein's 39, almost duplicating Mr. Seidel's ten to one win in his home town, percentage wise.

Mr. Neff carried 97 of the 99 Lawrence County precincts, lost one to Klein and tied one. In twelve precincts of the county Neff shut Klein out without a vote.

In Beaver County Mr. Neff carried the county getting 1,738 votes to Klein's 1,656.

In the Republican City Assembly race Mr. Brice's nomination was the fourth consecutive time he has won, only the second time this has ever been done.

Hensley Is Named
The Democratic race for the General Assembly nomination saw two first time candidates battling it out. Joseph R. Hensley's vote of 524 was only 85 more than his opponent Clyde McCready received.

Mr. McCready polled 439. The Democratic vote was even lighter than the Republican vote.

Uncontested Nominations
A number of nominations were uncontested. Congressman Louis E. Graham of Beaver county was

Daylight Time Given Approval

Vote Recorded At City Primaries Tuesday Is 4,420 Yes; 3,234 No

So-called Daylight Savings Time carried in New Castle at the Tuesday primary by a vote of 4420 to 3234.

What the referendum called for was a vote on Daylight Savings Time for June, July and August. Actually New Castle is on Daylight Savings Time now and will be until the last Sunday in September.

Only the public schools remain to adopt the fast time and this will probably be done tonight at a special meeting of the board. The directors have said they would wait for the vote.

While the vote is meaningless from a legal standpoint the referendum still drew more votes than political office did. The highest vote cast in the city for any office was that for General Assembly. In this, 7,154 Republicans and Democrats voted. For Daylight Saving 7,654 voted, a difference of 500.

Arms, Ammunition, Seized In New York

Police Seize Large Shipment Destined To Be Sent To Holy Land

NEW YORK, April 28.—(INS)—A large quantity of arms and ammunition marked for shipment to the Holy Land was seized early today by police in New York City.

Included in the cache were 300 revolvers, 100 rifles, an untested quantity of sub-machine guns, knives, dirks and thousands of rounds of ammunition. They were concealed in packing cases of food and clothing awaiting shipment to Tel Aviv.

Police said two men were arrested in connection with the seizure in a Loft building in New York's fur district.

Troop Withdrawal From Palestine To Remain Unhalted

LONDON, April 28.—(INS)—British Foreign Secretary Bevin told the House of Commons today that Britain cannot halt her withdrawal from Palestine.

He was asked under what circumstances the government would be prepared to carry on or participate in administration of Palestine after May 15 when the mandate is to be surrendered.

Truckloads of Irgun Zvai Leumi members drove through the streets of nearby Tel Aviv claiming that their Jewish underground units had scored a major victory.

Earlier reports said that Jaffa's defenses were crumbling.

Forces of Haganah, Jewish agency militia, were said to have joined with units of the underground Irgun Zvai Leumi which initiated attacks on Arab Jaffa.

Make Thrust At Salem
The Jews also made a thrust against the Arab village of Salem, south of Jaffa.

News of the stepped up assaults against Arab coastal holdings came after official announcement that Palestinian Arabs had rejected a plea by the special United Nations Truce committee in Jerusalem to discuss peace measures in the Holy Land.

The peace efforts were instituted by consular officials of the United States, Belgium and France in Jerusalem who were named last week-end by the U. N. as a special truce committee.

Draft Training Plan Now Being Framed

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Sen. Wilson (R. Iowa) urged that Congress boost army pay and lower intelligence standards to obtain volunteers before resorting to the draft or military training.

Wilson's proposal as a member of the Senate armed services committee came as strong support was given the armed forces new plan to place 18 to 19½ year olds in the regular forces for one year of training. The plan is a substitute for Universal Military Training.

Senate support appears strong, too, for the House bill granting the air force an added $22 million dollars with which to begin building a modernized 70-group air arm.

Secretary Symington told the appropriations committee this was a "minimum" for national security.

Would Change Plan
Wilson, an opponent of UMT, said the armed services want to "skim the cream off the top" of the nation's youth. He declared:

"I feel definitely that before Congress goes to the extent of enacting UMT or even selective service we should reconsider and see if we cannot make service in the army more attractive.

Both the Senate committees recessed today while the House armed services committee continued work on its 19-through-25 draft bill.

Committee experts went to work with representatives of the armed forces to frame a bill embodying the draft-training program, which would provide:

Provide In Bill
Youths 18 to 19½ years of age to be inducted by draft boards for one year of training in the regular armed forces, then go into Class A Reserve Units for four years or into the unorganized reserves for six years. Trainees could not be sent overseas, or be subject to the regular draft after their year's instruction.

Youths from 19½ through 25 to be inducted by the same draft boards for a regular hitch of two years in the armed forces. After discharge they would serve three years in the unorganized reserves.

The one-year training program is calculated to provide 161,600 trainees—110,000 for the army, 30,000 for the navy, 15,000 for the air force and 6,000 for the marines.

Ball Of Fire Drills Hole In Ground On Jackson Avenue During Storm

Ferd Reiter, of Jackson avenue, points to the hole in the ground just outside his back door where a fireball struck during the heavy storm last night.

At the height of the electrical storm Tuesday evening, between the hours of six and seven o'clock, a strange phenomenon occurred on the east side of the city that Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Reiter of Jackson avenue and the guests assembled in their new home will not forget.

The family with their guests were assembled in the basement section of the partially completed structure, watching the jagged streaks of lightning in the sky when the group sighted a large ball of fire about the size of a baseball and following it as it sped through the ether, it began falling dangerously close to the home where the witnesses to the strange event were assembled.

The fire ball finally fell after a few seconds just three feet away from where they were watching its antics. Rushing out of the home to see what damage had occurred, the excited individuals discovered a large hole in the ground about ten inches across and extending deep into the ground. A hole 18 inches deep is visible but the fire was drawn into the ground much deeper.

Had the missile fallen a few feet closer to the home, it would have evidently destroyed the new dwelling with the resulting fire. The Reiters are wondering if it is all about and are indeed grateful that the visitor from the sky fell alongside and not on top of their new home.

It is possible that the missile was part of a meteor, it is suggested.

Seventh Ward Election Boards Are First Again

It happened again. It always happens that way. The first and second precincts of the seventh ward were a country mile ahead of the other precincts in the county reporting returns.

At 9:08 p. m., Tuesday, just eight minutes after the polls closed, the first precinct reported one of the contested offices and at 9:24 gave The News its complete returns on the contested offices.

One minute after the first precinct reported, at 9:09 p. m., the second precinct reported its first returns on a contested office.

It was a fine piece of work on the part of both boards, work that was appreciated at The News and by the people seeking returns.

We're almost tempted to quote the Biblical command. Well we will quote it for the other boards. "Go thou and do likewise."

Report May 11 Set For Start Of Rail Strike

Formal Statement Being Prepared By Three Operating Brotherhoods

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, April 28.—(INS)—The National Mediation Board will make a final effort tomorrow in Chicago to avert a paralyzing strike of the nation's railroads set for May 11.

Board Chairman Frank P. Douglas announced today that he and Francis A. O'Neill will meet tomorrow at 10 a. m. with representatives of the three rail operating unions and of the railroad companies.

CHICAGO, April 28.—(INS)—Three operating brotherhoods of the nation's class 1 railroads prepared an announcement today that they will strike at 6 a. m. May 11.

While the brotherhoods' wages and rules committees arranged in Chicago for a formal statement of the wages and rules committee of three operating railroad brotherhoods to announce a strike date.

While a spokesman for the brotherhoods in Cleveland said the nationwide walkout had been set for 6 a. m., May 11, a committee representative informed newsmen it would have "no announcement because of certain developments."

neers, Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and Switchmen, said in Cleveland that the May 11 date had been set.

The strike would affect 125,000 operating employees of the nation's major railroads.

Cooling Off Period Ends
The 30-day cooling off period under the National Railway Labor Act expired at midnight, and last-ditch negotiations by representatives of the carriers and the three brotherhoods to avert the threatened walkout collapsed in Chicago last night.

Earlier a spokesman for the three brotherhoods, engineers, firemen and enginemen and switchmen, said that the strike date would be set by union officers in Cleveland in the event that the negotiations broke down.

Rejected Proposal
Spokesmen for the Association of Western Railroads, representing class 1 carriers, declared that the brotherhoods respected a 15½-cent hourly wage increase recommended by the presidential three-men emergency board.

The railroads accepted the board's proposals.

The brotherhoods originally demanded a 30 per cent wage increase to meet the rising cost of living. They also sought a minimum raise of $3 a day and a number of changes in working rules.

If the three brotherhoods walk out, it would mark the first nationwide railroad strike since May, 1946.

An informal meeting of the board will take place tonight at which time it is expected the board will ratify this action.

Police were puzzled by the strange pattern of footprints in the sand leading to the body, which lay face down on the beach.

The footprints indicated Mrs. Paine wandered erratically along the beach. The trail zig-zagged down to the water's edge and back again.

The pills, found in the locket engraved with the initials "H. L. E." were turned over to a state chemist for analysis. A NEW APPROACH

The government's late and unlamented—but lamentably ineffectual—food saving program for consumers died long before the Department of Agriculture announced the end of meatless Tuesdays last week. Restaurants stopped complying many months ago, and most housewives stopped thinking of Tuesday as a day to concoct substitutes when Charlie Luckman departed from Washington following a gargantuan banquet.

But in theory the program was still alive. So it may ease the minds of conscientious persons who were dimly aware of this to learn that it has now been decently laid away by an official announcement. No one is under any obligation whatever, from now on, to do without meat on Tuesdays.

Well, that's that. However, the ever-busy Department of Agriculture coupled with its formal statement a request that consumers observe one meatless day a week of their own choice. There is still need to have food, it said, and it asked for the cooperation of the public.

It did more. It has printed 3,000,000 copies of a booklet, called "Money-Saving Main Dishes," to help housewives to cooperate. And officials say the 50 recipes contained therein will help consumers to save "perhaps as much as a third" in the family meat budget by using economical cuts and preparing them properly.

Of course, in this latest approach to what it considers its special problem the boys in the Department of Agriculture did nothing to alleviate the paper shortage. But that is the special problem of another governmental department, equally well staffed, no doubt.

THE FADING NICKEL

New York, which has 240 miles of subways and 500 miles of bus routes, is virtually the last city to surrender the nickel fare. It has been one of the sacred cows of Gotham.

Despite the 10,000,000 passengers carried each day, the city-operated system was going into the red tens of millions of dollars annually. With a municipal budget of more than a billion dollars and property taxes out of sight, it has at last been decided to increase the fare.

New York is a union-controlled city, and to accomplish it, officials had to curry the consent of a part of labor. The right-wing unions finally decided to accept a higher fare in return for an increase in wage. But the left-wing outfits clung to their wearisome old refrain that wages could be boosted sharply even if the fare remained a nickel.

Soon a New Yorker will be unable to boast that he can ride 240 miles on a subway for a jiny. That was undoubtedly the world's greatest five cents' worth. That coin is now all but valueless in purchasing an individual item.

About all that can be purchased with it is a pack of chewing gum, a candy bar (reduced in size) or a tune, so-called, on a juke box, not overlooking the daily newspaper, which is the greatest bargain in the world today.

TIME FOR A SHOWDOWN

The American system of government calls for three equal and independent branches, with each serving as a check on the other two. Today, over the Condon case, one of those branches is clearly out of line. Opinions may differ as to whether the President or Congress is at fault. But since they are clashing, in a remarkable disagreement which may set precedents, it is clear that one must be wrong.

It started when a House subcommittee on un-American activities insinuated that Dr. Condon, head of the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce, was either disloyal or dangerously indiscreet.

"One of the weakest links in our atomic security," the committee called him.

Dr. Condon denied everything. The Department of Commerce said that a previous investigation had cleared him of all charges of disloyalty. The committee demanded part of the file of the investigation. The department refused. Taxpayers who pay Condon's salary have never been informed why it refused.

Then President Truman issued an order instructing all departments not to honor congressional subpoenas for confidential files. The House retaliated by passing, 300 to 29, a resolution directing the Secretary of Commerce to turn over part of the file. Truman's retort was something like: "Try and get it!"

Chairman Thomas of the full committee and Speaker Martin of the House have both indicated that legislation may be introduced to force a showdown.

The sooner it comes the better. A matter as serious as this cannot be left dangling in the air even though Truman is determined to veto every action of Congress.

Foot-and-mouth is a disease that breeds in the swamps of Mexican politics.

What became of that new-style roof that was to be held up by air. A campaign year would be a grand time to try it out.

If the nation is to be reactivated for air raids, it will be discovered the buckets of sand went into the flower garden, while those silly little air pumps have been taken apart by the children.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

Persistent reports that the famed Arab Legion soon may go into action in Palestine focussed attention today upon two figures who virtually hold the world's destiny in the palm of their hands.

One is the fantastically rich King Abdullah of Transjordan, who lives amid gold plate, silks and velvet in the almost inaccessible mountain capital of Amman. The other is Major John Glubb Pasha, commander of the king's highly-trained and immensely competent Arab Legion, the military force subsidized by Great Britain to keep peace in the desert.

Glubb Pasha is a figure of mystery out of a cloak-and-sword novel, rarely interviewed and rarely seen, he is said to have trained the legion with all the efficiency of a Prussian general. His mobile force of some 10,000 men is looked upon generally as the bellwether of eventual peace or formal war in Palestine.

Along with his admitted military ability, Glubb Pasha is a first-class showman, just as was the late T. E. Lawrence, and the Arabs look upon him as a superman. He does what he can to deserve the reputation, up to and including a pure white uniform with a gold belt and a Prussian-type white helmet set off with a glistening spike.

Wounded In War
Glubb suffered a shrapnel wound in the First World War which shortened his chin and gave him a misleading perpetual smile. One clue to his character and his ability to lead the Arabs was discovered by a roving British who made his way to Glubb Pasha's headquarters near Amman a few weeks ago.

He found the leader brusque, although not without a sense of humor, and guarded in the extreme about his plans and operations. The Briton wanted to see the Legion in action, to find out exactly how it obtained and maintained its supplies and how it would function in event of conflict.

Made Stipulation
Glubb Pasha indicated he would take him out on a sortie. However, he made this stipulation. "You must," he said, "first prove your stamina by crawling for three days and nights across the desert."

The Parent Problem
By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SELF-DEMAND METHOD OF FEEDING HAS DISADVANTAGES
A fad known as the self-demand method of feeding infants has been spreading pretty widely. According to this method the infant is to decide when he shall be fed, and announce his decision and the mother is to abide promptly by this decision.

The arguments advanced in favor of this method are that infants differ widely in their capacity for taking food and time for digesting and assimilating it; that by not letting an infant cry, the mother gives him assurance of affection and security; and that the young mother is saved from needless emotional strain of making the infant wait and cry it out.

Mothers Like It
Pediatricians who have been propagating this method say it works and that young mothers like it and express great emotional satisfaction over the method. Too, if the baby is breast-fed there probably is better food supply both in quantity and quality, thanks to temporary absence of emotional conflicts in the mother. No doubt some infants fed by this method during the first few weeks of their lives, easily fall into a rhythm for choosing food. What about the others who don't?

I am not able to learn of a workable technique yet derived for training the baby to adapt himself to some semblance of a schedule later. For how long shall this youngster continue with his self-demanding way? Till he is three months old? Six months? Nine months? Eighteen months? A good many mothers, trying the method seem to suppose that self-demand is to go on indefinitely; they do till stern realities face them.

Few Weeks Old
You see, after the child is a few weeks old, his being fed means far more to him than merely satisfying his hunger for food. Added are the experiences of being touched, cuddled, sailing through the air, bending arms and legs, twisting head and trunk; and from sights and sounds. Day by day these accessory experiences become more numerous and exciting and satisfying. And when he begins to enjoy being entertained? Isn't it highly probable that these accessory experiences will prompt his demands and increase their frequency?

Have any careful studies been made over two, three, six years of the self-demand-fed baby and checked against infants who were really held to schedules? Of course not, obviously. What probably is happening is that some of these pediatricians are comparing from memory. They overlook the fact that relatively few mothers who have believed in a schedule have had enough stamina to hold reasonably to it. While an occasional mother has fretted foolishly over holding always right to the minute, most have wobbled woefully, letting the baby cry for longer and longer periods, but finally giving in. Any mother who is going to do that had better embrace the self-demand method.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

Up in Malden, Mass., there is a little white-haired woman who just celebrated her 102nd birthday.

Usually, at such an occasion, the celebrant is asked "To what do you attribute your long life?" So, Mrs. Hannah Saunders, who was born in a log cabin her father built in the woods near Norway, Me., was asked the same question. She didn't know why she had lived so long and why she expects to live a while longer.

But she did know what's the matter with the young folks of today.

"They worry too much," she said. "They don't give enough thought to the important things in life—the little things. Those are the things they'll remember when they are old."

Then she told her interviewers how all those big things that happened in her lifetime had become quite hazy—four wars; three Presidents assassinated; Chicago almost wiped out by fire; San Francisco split by an earthquake.

Yes, they all happened during Hannah Saunders' 102 years of living. But they are not important anymore.

But she does remember many of the little things that happened—the things that happened to her personally.

"When you're 102," she said, "and it's spring and you're sitting in your old front porch rocker musing over patch-work memories, nothing is quite so clear as your first Christmas, your first grown-up clothes or the breathlessness of your wedding day."

You forget the big events of history. You forget the big headlines. But you remember the first pie you baked and the time your needlework won a ribbon at the county fair. Your first date is so clear it might have happened last night."

I did a little thinking myself after hearing Hannah Saunders' observations on her 102nd birthday.

And, if you do a little thinking, what do you remember? What has been most important in your life? What have been the most important things?

The captain and the kings devour the Christmas tree, the dances, those moonlight rides, those little joys and sorrows that were so big and so important when they happened—they remain.

Would you believe it? I have already forgotten most of the important dates of the last war.

I have to look up almost every historical event of world-shaking importance to remember the dates and even the facts.

But I can tell you to the day, the hour and almost the minute when I met my wife more than twenty-six years ago.

I remember the first licking I got from my father, and the neatly trimmed gray beard of Pastor Jacoby who confirmed me more years ago than I care to admit.

Those great historical events remind me of the time when I was six and tried to wear my father's hat. It was just too big for me. (Copyright, 1948, by King Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington Calling

How Taft-Stassen Compare

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The two contestants in the Republican presidential primary in Ohio are really warming up. Harold Stassen and Sen. Robert A. Taft are throwing assorted crockery at each other as the campaign goes into the final week.

Stassen intimates that Taft is the arch enemy of labor. And Taft comes back with the most lurid of all charges. Stassen, he says, is a new dealer.

The senator's ire is rising. If it had not been for this brazen upstart from Minnesota, he would not have had to go barnstorming through his own state appealing for votes at hamlets and crossroads.

Labels Mean Little
One thing this contest demonstrates, and that is how little meaning political labels really have. Taft is aggrieved that Stassen should be considered a liberal and that, by contrast, he himself is made to seem a conservative or even a reactionary.

Looking at the record, one must admit that he has reason to feel he is being treated unjustly. What has just happened here in Washington underwrites Taft's claim that he has just as much right to the "liberal" label as the ambitious young man from Minnesota.

The Senate has passed the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill. Taft can rightly claim credit for its passage. It was his persistence and his parliamentary resourcefulness that put it through in spite of all the obstacles set in its path.

Sticks To Measure
As adopted by the Senate, the heart of the measure is the provision for slum clearance with federal funds. The government will split in $160,000,000 over a period of five years to help build 500,000 low rental units. In spite of screams of Socialism and Communism from the building and real-estate lobbies, Taft has stuck by this public-housing provision. He has stuck by it with the stubbornness of a man who has the courage to be right once he has made up his mind.

Interestingly enough, the chief opponent of this public-housing provision in the Senate was Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin. McCarthy is Stassen's chief senatorial supporter. He campaigned for him in Wisconsin and Nebraska.

Cannot Be Held Accountable
Stassen cannot, of course, be held accountable for the things his friends say and do. He himself has urged that the federal government use a billion dollars a year "for a major-scale construction effort."

Not only on housing but on health and education Taft has fought for the minimum of federal aid which he believes essential to raise the lowest-income families to a decent standard. He has fought McCarthy and other conservatives in the Senate and the Taft band in the House that has held the fort against any constructive legislation. This gives point to Taft's accusation that Stassen deliberately stayed out of the Senate in order to run for president and thereby avoided the day-to-day struggle to shape Republican policy.

On Foreign Policy
Primarily it is on foreign policy that Stassen is judged a liberal, and Taft a conservative. Repeatedly Stassen has spoken his approval of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg and the European Recovery Plan. Taft tried to reduce the recovery appropriation by a billion dollars—which would have made it a futile breadline operation.

Even here, however, the labels will not stay put. Stassen advocated a provision denying any recovery funds to countries that proposed further nationalization or socialization. Such a provision would have been regarded in Europe as an attempt to dictate internal policy and, if it had been included, most nations would have been unable to cooperate in the program. Taft was against the provision, saying he believed it to be unworkable.

Difference Really Striking
When you get away from principles and onto personalities, then the difference between the two batters in Ohio is really striking. Taft is plain-spoken to the point of bluntness, and his speeches are never spiced with fine phrases. Stassen impressed the voters with his sincere eloquence, his hopeful generalities about America and the world.

The Stassen formula has worked wonders in Nebraska and Wisconsin. Behind the eloquence is skillful political organization. Taft managers have conceded up to 9 delegates for Stassen out of the 23 he is seeking in Ohio, and his total is likely to be larger. The moral seems to be that most people never bother to look behind the label once it has been fixed. (Copyright, 1948, by King Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Small Details Only Of E. C. A.

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.—Our curiosity as a one-time daily reporter took us today to the new Economic Cooperation Administration headquarters which we approached and examined for non-significant details.

The address is 800 Connecticut Avenue, third through seventh floors, where ECA rents 87,000 square feet of floor space for $112,000 a year, not including guard service. ECA's landlord is the Public Buildings Administration (Department of Interior) which in turn rents from Jerry Malatier, the owner and builder, Mr. Malatier, for his part, put up the 12-story, 166,190 square foot building on a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which occupies the top five floors for an annual rental of $103,000.

Will Employ 1200
ECA will employ 1200 office workers, 800 in this country and 400 abroad. But as of yesterday, only twelve persons had been hired, three executives and a total of nine stenographers, messengers and miscellaneous handy-people. There have been, however, at this writing some 18,000 applicants, hailing from all 48 states, the District of Columbia and the territory of Hawaii. About half the applicants come in person to the third floor employment office. The other half write, telegraph or telephone Sterling 6400. Only those applicants who are accepted will be locally checked. They get a preliminary check six days after signing in, and a full-course FBI shake-down within 60 days of employment.

ECA, going into business as the greatest lender and giver in history, is a borrower and moocher at home. It has borrowed James Hard, personnel expert from the Treasury Department, who with a small borrowed staff is processing 500 applications a day. It has raided nearly every government office in town for furniture and furnishings. The second-hand desks now in use are valued at only $25 apiece.

Three Locations Already
ECA in its short duration has already had three separate locations. Its first address was Suite W-909, Stalter Hotel, where the management had to employ three extra telephone girls to take incoming calls. Next stop was Room 275 of the Old State Building where many people are still trying to find ECA.

The move last week to its present quarters was a mammoth effort, especially on the fifth floor, the administration level. Sixty skilled workers worked 60 hours between Friday morning and 2:30 Sunday morning. But when Administrator Paul G. Hoffman showed up for work on Tuesday morning, the paint was dry, the phones were in, the lights were blazing and the carpet was down. The carpet is gray, a second-hand color in official Washington where VIPs (very important persons) rate red carpets.

Administrator Hoffman has four secretaries and no formal reception room. His private office is 18 by 24 feet, contains a desk, some chairs and a globe to which he is constantly referring. The globe was given to Hoffman, a director of United Air Lines, by Pan American World Airways and carries the latter firm's imprint.

Many Messages
Hoffman at this writing has received about 1500 messages of congratulation. Many of these include suggestions of "hire me" for one of the 25 jobs from $10,000 to $15,000 which are exempt from civil service requirements. He also gets congratulatory messages from self-styled "experts and consultants" whom the law permits him to hire at his discretion for $50-a-day, plus travel time and $10-a-day subsistence.

Although the office staff likes to be called ECA, it also answers to the names of: the Marshall plan, ERP, Public Law 472, and "Mr. Hoffman's office". The phone rings almost continuously for Hoffman, but he wasn't around when I showed up. He was up on Capitol Hill explaining to Chairman Taber of the House Appropriations Committee why $3 billion dollars might not be enough to save Europe and buy the peace of the world. He became commanding officer of the 94th aerobattalion, the first American air unit to participate actively at the western front, and this unit was credited with 69 victories—the largest number of any American unit.

ROOM FOR ONE MORE
Move over! Move over! Move over, you three!
There's room in my heart for another to be.
Now blown on the bugle and beat on the drum
And show you are glad that your cousin has come.
Let joy light your eyes as you open the door,
And tell him we'll always have room for one more.

The spot has been yours. You have raced there and played,
And a fool of the landlord you've frequently made.
But now there's another who's asking for room;
So you girls set busy with duster and broom
And ready the place for this newcomer small.
Remember this old heart has space for you all.

You've ruled it alone. Now the spot you must share,
But always remember there's love enough there.
Like the porch of a home, this old rheumatic knee
Can take care of four just as lightly as three.
So hang out the banners and greet him with cheer,
And tell Aunt Jannie's baby: "We welcome you here!" (Copyright, 1948, Edgar A. Guest)

State Housing Shortage Still Not Relieved

HARRISBURG, April 28.—(INS)—U. S. Labor department reports indicated today that the post-war housing shortage in Pennsylvania is not being reduced as rapidly as in states with comparable problems.

The State Housing board released a federal survey which showed that in the three years ending last January, construction either was completed or still was underway on 60,000 houses. The shortage has been pegged at 200,000 units.

The lag appeared to stem from an apparent failure of private builders to spur residential construction immediately after the war but in the closing months of 1947 a sharp spurt was noted.

Comparison Is Made
A comparison of nationwide home building activity during 1945, 1946 and 1947 indicates Pennsylvania has increased residential construction by leaps and bounds. Surveys showed Pennsylvania contractors had building schedules for 5000 dwellings in 1945, 24,000 the following year and 32,300 during 1947.

In 1945, Pennsylvania held eleventh place in housing in the nation, the report showed. The Keystone state moved up to eighth place the following year and held the same spot in 1947.

But Pennsylvania's building ratio still is well below those of comparable wealthy and progressive states.

California Out in Front
Out in front is California with 392,600 homes listed on construction schedules over the three-year period. Others pacing Pennsylvania are: Texas, 135,400; Florida, 107,700; New York, 88,600; Michigan, 78,300; Illinois, 71,000; and Ohio, 75,200. The figures do not include farm homes.

The same standing continued through January, 1948, the latest survey available. During the month, Pennsylvania reported 536 new dwellings. A total of 18,999 were reported completed in the state during 1947.

Across the nation, building during last November, December, January and February was reported 40 per cent higher than during the same period of 1946 and 1947.

Better in 1947
In Pennsylvania, the 1947 building rate was 25 per cent above that of 1946 and 85 per cent greater than in 1945.

An indication of possible greater advances soon came from the State Insurance department which reported a number of insurance companies have evinced interest in housing investment privileges granted by the general assembly during the 1947 session.

An act of 1947 permits companies to invest up to 10 per cent of their assets in housing. In 1945, lawmakers permitted them to pour funds into slum clearance, but none took advantage of the authority.

The housing board has no complete reports on the size of investments in housing in the state.

But a survey of "construction" reports approximately $136,764,000 were spent in erecting homes last year.

Daniel Rogers, assistant board director, warned that while the building advances looked bright "thousands of families still are living in rooming houses, trailer camps, make-shift cabins and veritable slum conditions."

NEW YORK, April 28.—(INS)—Bethlehem Steel Company, the nation's second biggest steel manufacturer, Tuesday announced its refusal to grant wage increases demanded by the C.I.O. Steelworkers Union, coincident with price reductions estimated at ten million dollars annually.

All-Out Battle Against Cancer In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, April 28.—(INS)—Pennsylvania medical forces today are waging a "no quarter" fight against cancer.

The State Medical Society, Health department and Pennsylvania Cancer Society have joined forces to combat the country's second greatest disease-killer.

The unified campaign will "reduce duplication of effort, achieve the best results for money spent and bring cancer patients to physicians at an earlier date for diagnosis and treatment," it was reported by the newly organized Cancer Coordinating committee.

Refresher Courses
To educate the public and medical profession the group will provide refresher courses for doctors, help establish cancer detection centers, subsidize research projects and conduct educational programs in schools and colleges.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., April 28.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held Thursday for Adams County Sheriff Bernard W. Spence, 57, of Gettysburg, who died Monday night at Warner hospital following a heart attack.

Hershey To See 1948 Aqua Parade

HERSHEY, Pa., April 28.—(INS)—The Aqua-Parade of 1948, the newest and most spectacular of water extravaganzas, will play in the Hershey Sports Arena May 21-29.

Buster Crabbe, former Olympic swimming champion, who has appeared in motion pictures, is the star of the production. The premiere performance was in St. Louis Arena and a tour of 16 cities across the nation will be made during the summer.

The company Crabbe heads includes 73 "mermaids," dancers and novelty entertainers, who will exhibit their talents in a portable tank, on diving platforms and behind floodlights.

The production is being staged by Leroy and Edward Prinz, film producers, and the rehearsals took place in Hollywood.

In the show is the greatest woman diver in the world, Helen Crlenkovich, and heading a list of six comedy divers is the king himself, Frank Foster. In the cast are also Joe Peterson, Elbert Root, Johnny Riley, Jimmy Rice and a host of other water champions.

Cashier In Huge Swindle Sentenced

NEW YORK, April 28.—(INS)—William Arthur Nickel, the cashier who lived like a prince during the $780,000 Mergenthaler Linotype Co. swindle, was sentenced to two and a half to five years in Sing Sing prison today.

Nickel, 41, who pleaded guilty, won leniency for aiding the prosecution against three others implicated in the fantastic crime.

Having served over 17 months in prison while awaiting sentence, he will be eligible for parole July 4. Technically he might have got a term of over 1,000 years from Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz in Kings county court, for he was sentenced on 202 counts of grand larceny and forgery.

The judge, however, imposed all terms concurrently.

Thieves Steal Dog And Clothes

CHICAGO, April 28.—(INS)—Some watch dogs can't even watch themselves, let alone $600 in clothing.

The dog and several suitcases containing the clothes and uniforms are missing.

Pfc. John Cochran Wins 'Paratrooper' Wings In Georgia

FORT BENNING, Ga., April 28.—Pfc. John L. Cochran, 139 Beckford street, New Castle, Pa., son of Mrs. Florence Cochran of the same address, has successfully completed the rigid five-week basic airborne course at the Infantry School here and has been awarded the official U. S. Army parachute wings.

During his training period, Pfc. Cochran made five parachute jumps from army cargo aircraft at an altitude of 1,000 feet and achieved the high score necessary to pass the "paratrooper" physical fitness test.

His other indoctrination included flight to acquaint him with modern glider warfare. Practical instruction in ground assembly, parachute rigging and maintenance as well as loading and lashing of airborne cargo—vital skills in all airborne units—were included in the period of training.

The American "paratroopers" are recognized throughout the world as one of the finest units of the armed forces—soldiers of top physical and mental fitness, sharply trained in technical "know-how."

Good Taste

By FRANCES MARREL

MAN TAKES WOMAN TO DINNER

"A friend says that a man taking a woman out to dinner accepts the menu from the waiter, asks his companion's preference and proceeds to order two dinners exactly alike, duplicating her dinner for himself. I say this is silly—that he man has the privilege of ordering according to his own preference. Please straighten me out on this question."

Answer: Only a "Mr. Milquetoast" would thus disregard his own gustatory tastes and so defer to his companion's unless through long experience they had observed that their preferences were unusually similar.

When we are dining at a friend's home, we must hide our dislike for her selection of food and make a pretense of enjoying it. When a meal is eaten in a public dining room, we are on our own and order according to our individual desires.

Usually the man does ask his companion's choice and gives both orders to the waiter. But frequently, and quite correctly, guests give their individual orders to the waiter. And surely, the person who holds the purse strings should be permitted to make selections that will delight his own palate. I think all will agree that he should be given this small privilege.

In short, there is neither sense nor logic in this theory that any man should duplicate the menu order of the woman with him.

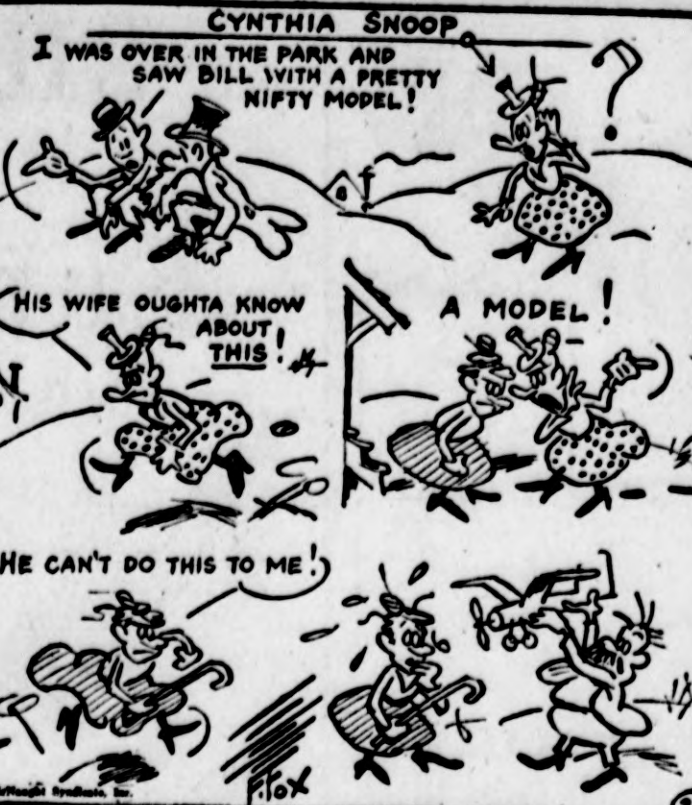

Question: When a bride moves to her husband's town, should his friends call on her first, or should she call on them?

Answer: His friends and the friends of his family, as well as his relatives, should call upon her and her husband. However, if they neglect to do so, through ignorance of this custom, the bride and groom may "break the ice" and make calls on them.

Present your problems to Miss Marrel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, April 28.—(INS)—Charlie Ruggles celebrated his 43rd year in show business today by getting the mumps.

They weren't actual mumps—but they were more painful than the real McCoy.

Ruggles currently is portraying June Haver's father in "Silver Lining," the screen biography of Marily Miller. An important phase of the late dancing star's life was the time her Pop came down with the mumps.

Nothing Works

So Director Dave Butler spent hours today experimenting on how to make Charlie's jowls puff up realistically. He jammed Ruggles' jaws with cotton. Then he tried chunks of apple. Then rock candy.

None of the props gave the appearance of mumps.

Ruggles suggested sponge rubber. Butler stuffed the actor's mouth with great globs of the stuff. It looked right.

But after eight hours of talking with his mouth full of sponges, Ruggles had to take special treatment from an oral surgeon. "This," he said, "is the most absorbing dialogue I've ever spoken."

Turning Back Clock

It was like turning back the clock when Ruggles began the role of Marily Miller's vaudeville father in the Warner Bros. film.

The veteran actor was a vaudeville star himself—more years ago than he likes to remember—but he also watched Director Butler grow up.

Butler's Pop, Fred, gave Ruggles his start at the old Alcazar Theater in San Francisco. In those dear dim days young Butler was playing bit roles and doubling as stage manager.

The only difference was that Dave's folks wanted him to engage in show business while Ruggles' family started him out in life as a physician.

Meek and Mousy

Ruggles, noted for his meek and mousy roles, in real life is regarded around Hollywood as one of the film colony's "most regular guys."

His main outside interests are scientific orange groves, dogs and handball. His kennels in North Hollywood are probably the finest of their kind.

But show business is his whole life.

Sign Wilde Twins

The brothers Warner scouted high and low for two actresses to portray Marilyn Miller's sisters. They finally signed the beautiful Wilde twins, a pair of identical cuties.

But the late Miss Miller's sisters were not twins, so the studio make-up department has been working overtime and going wild trying to make the Wilde twins look unlike.

Hollywood always does things the hard way.

INDIANA, Pa., April 28.—(INS)—Dr. Willis E. Pratt, 41, former head of the department of education at Pennsylvania State College, today was the new president of Indiana State Teachers College.

Dr. Pratt was elected to succeed Dr. Joseph Uhler, who died last fall.

Dr. Pratt served as superintendent of Erie County public schools from 1938 to 1941, and during World War II as a major he organized or reopened 11 Italian universities.

First government explorer to penetrate Utah was John Charles Fremont, in 1843.

TAKE a clear day—a Dynaflo® Buick—and a mind open to new experiences.

Turn the key in the lock—press down the gas treader—and set this mighty Fireball straight-eight purring. Now:

Flick the selector lever till the pointer indicates "D"—that's for driving. Feed a little gas—and see what happens.

Smoothly, you slip away from the curb. Silently you build up momentum. Effortlessly you cruise at whatever pace your treader toe selects.

Look! you say. A stop light! What do I do?

Nothing special. Let up on the gas. Apply the foot brake as you need it.

That all? Won't the engine stall? Don't I shift?

That's all. Your engine won't stall. You don't shift. Just sit there till the coast is clear. Then step on it. Step hard and you're off like a rabbit. Step lightly, and you ease smoothly away.

What's happening? you want to know. What's doing the shifting? Some mechanical hand under the floor boards?

Not in this car, sir. Oil does it all—spinning oil. Oil whirling to give you starting surge—power build-up—efficient cruising—engine braking effect on hills.

Oil that does everything the usual low, second and high gears do—without any gearshifting on your part—and without the slightest break in your stride except when you want it.

Say no more! I'm sold! Where do I sign up?

There's only one place. Only Buick has Dynaflo Drive, and no other American car has anything like it. With or without a car to trade, better see your Buick dealer first minute you can.

What's Different About DYNAFLOW DRIVE?

To an efficient new pump (left below), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) and an ingenious new supercharging assembly (in hand) which produce a torque-boosting action in starting and accelerating. The result is the first device on any American passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you manual selection of power ranges and direction.

GRAND DAD & BUTCH

Butch does not like to brush his teeth. He is too busy. Granddad takes his teeth out to clean them. Butch thinks that would be easier. Poor old granddad. He had a lot of trouble with his teeth.

Dad and Mom should take good care of Butch's teeth. His baby teeth need care just the same as his second set, maybe more.

When Butch got his first tooth, it was a great occasion. Mom saw it first and told Dad when he came home from work. Then Dad told Grand Ma.

Mom should look at Butch's teeth every day. The first little brown speck should call for the dentist. Butch will probably live longer than Granddad. Help him to keep his teeth as long as possible.

Junior Class At Wampum Presents Play On Tuesday

Wampum Audience Enjoys 'Strictly Confidential' Presented In High School Auditorium

Snooping can mean trouble but it meant fun and laughter Tuesday night when the Junior class of Wampum High school presented their play, "Strictly Confidential".

Janie Lawrence, played by Elsie Sbarro, opens the confidential mail of her brother-in-law to set the plot for this amazing play. A struggling young lawyer, Jack Butler, is working on a case of great importance that could make him wealthy by merely buying some land and reselling it at a great profit. He is aided in this secretive deal by his old high-school flame who works for the wealthy buyer. Janie tells the secret to a friend, Francis Capalbo, who in turn tells his guardians, Janet Pozzuto and Robert Krosovic. The friends turn out to be schemers who attempt to wreck the deal.

While this underhanded trickery is going on the young lawyer has to ward off his maid, Sarah Crane, who attempts to run the household; and his wife, Jean Schmid, who believes he is unfaithful to her. He seeks the aid of his college friend played by Don King and of his mother, played by Jean McQuiston. The impatient spinster who wants to sell the land is played by Martin Schotsch and the wealthy aunt who helps finance the deal is Jane Davis. The highlight of the play occurs when the wealthy aunt is mistaken for an impostor and the maid is found hiding the precious cache in the bookcase.

The entire cast gave a splendid performance. Outstanding among them were the cook, Sarah Crane;
the young lawyer, Jack Butler; his wife, Jean Schmid.

Music between the acts was presented by Joan McNabb who played two piano solos, Chopin's Preludes Opus 22 and four. Behind the scenes William Stinnett acted as prompter; George Cook was the stage manager; Loretta Johnson and Joan McNabb were ushers; and Dorothy Anderson and Marjorie Mielke were make-up artists. The play was capably directed by A. Venturilla, faculty member of Wampum high school.

The audience's enjoyment was displayed in their quiet attentiveness while the play progressed and in the happy hilarious hoots emitted during the comedy scenes. The audience was convinced by the players that snooping can be funny.

Big Year Ahead

Huge Backlog of Orders Reported
For United Engineering and Foundry Company

PITTSBURGH, April 28.—Increased production in the United Engineering and Foundry company was reported to stockholders at the annual meeting here Tuesday.

F. C. Bigger, Jr., chairman, said financial results for 1948 should be equal to or better than in 1947 when the company had the most profitable year in the last decade with a net income of $3-433,000, or $4.12 per common share.

The rate of production has increased during the first quarter of this year, he said, adding:
"The present backlog of uncompleted orders is the largest in the history of the company, and with the continuing demand expected from domestic and foreign markets, we anticipate capacity production for the next several years.
Shortage of critical materials is the only apparent hindrance to full operations and extraordinary measures are being taken to avoid this difficulty."

K. C. Gardner, president, said materials were being sought "in all parts of the world."
Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock, and a dividend of 75 cents on the common, both payable May 18 to record May 7.

Report U. S. Was Overcharged For Arabian Oil

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(INS)
The senate war investigating committee reported today that the government was overcharged 30 to 38 million dollars on purchases of Arabian oil between 1942 and 1947.

A highly-critical report on the committee's probe of navy oil purchases in the middle east said the overcharges were made by the Arabian-American Oil company
(Aramco) and its affiliates.

The report was the result of a year of committee investigation and hearings, spearheaded by Sen.
Brewster (R) Me., chairman of the group.

It was pointed out in the report that new contracts recently have been reached between Aramco and the navy at even higher prices than those in 1942-47. The committee said:

"It is impossible to ascertain the final over-all costs of these overcharges."
The report urged an investigation by the attorney general of possible competition-strangling results of Aramco's ownership by American oil companies, and suggested that legislation might be needed to ban "tax avoidance" by formation of foreign subsidiaries of U. S. companies.

Until the 19th century, fashionable women of America protected their complexions from cold wind and hot sun by wearing masks.
Wine masks were made of velvet and summer ones of silk or linen.
Unlike other masks, they were held in place either by the hand, or when both hands were needed,
as in riding, by a silver mouthpiece held between the teeth.

Huge Expansion Of Industry In State

HARRISBURG, April 28.—(INS)—An unprecedented peacetime wave of industrial plant construction and expansion costing more than two billion dollars is underway today in Pennsylvania.

The broad picture was outlined by Gov. James H. Duff on the basis of a State Commerce department survey of industrial development which indicated the program had no parallel in the nation. It represented the first comprehensive report of Pennsylvania's industrial might since the end of World War II.

"The two billion dollar figure, huge as it is, is a conservative one," the governor declared.

The study included neither wartime construction nor industries employing less than 100 workers, he explained. Many firms which reported expenditures for new plants and equipment in 1946 and 1947 "made no attempt to estimate their 1948 expansions," he added.

Greater Than 1946 or 1947

"Despite that, the companies which did estimate 1948 construction reported more than $697,000,000, which is a larger total than for either 1946 or 1947," Duff said.

The cost of industrial development was pegged at $446,231,319 in 1946 and $646,439,517 last year.

"It would be fair to say this is the biggest expansion ever reported—both in volume and in the number of jobs created."

Pointing out that no attempt was made to cover all of Pennsylvania's 19,300 industrial plants, Commerce Secretary Orus J. Matthews said replies to questionnaires were received from 1271 of 2400 companies contacted. Of these, 1066 reported expansions and modernizations totaling $1,789,698,713 and 1411 separate plants.

This is one of the greatest records of peace-time industrial expansion for any section of the country," Matthews said. "The nearest comparable figure of which we have any record for Pennsylvania showed $195,000,000 in expansions for the year 1939.

"No other state has reported anything even comparable to this expansion. The new capital expenditures reported in the survey is far from the total spent for industrial expansion in Pennsylvania during this period. Unquestionably, there were many millions more which have not been reported."

State Chairman Taylor Wins By Slight Margin

HARRISBURG, April 28.—(INS)—The Dauphin county organization headed by Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor for almost two decades—as shaken today by a narrow escape from defeat in the primary election.

Taylor's organization was challenged by an insurgent group known as the "Fighting Five" headed by Walter Mumma, millionaire Harrisburg contractor, and four anti-Taylor candidates for the State House of Representatives.

The countywide campaign revolved around Taylor's bid for re-

New Military Training Plan Proposal Made

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Defense chiefs asked congress on Tuesday to approve a substitute universal training plan which would give youths military instruction without enlarging the 14 billion 481 million dollar defense budget.

Under the proposal, youths 18 to 19 and one-half years of age would receive training for one year in the regular armed forces.

Sen. Gurney (R) S. D., chairman of the Senate Armed Services committee, praised the plan as a "real practical program that will give us some trained reserves."

Compromise Plan
He said even UMT opponents on his committee seemed to favor the compromise plan, which he pointed out was made necessary by budget limitations.

However, Rep. Andrews (R) N. Y., chairman of the House Armed Services committee, declared he opposes any compromise plan which would combine UMT with selective service.

He said the compromise suggested by the National Defense department is "just out of the question" and asserted that UMT can be instituted only after termination of draft legislation.

Andrews contended that combining UMT and the draft would create too great a drain on the nation's young manpower.

Alters Induction Age
The new program, requested by the Senate committee, also alters the induction age for those to be drafted for two years service in the armed forces. Gurney explained that the new induction age would be 19 and one-half through 25, instead of 19 through 25.

Local draft boards would choose both the trainees for the one year hitch and the draftees for the two years service on a "drawing by lot" basis.

Gurney disclosed that the plan calls for giving the trainees the same pay as members of the regular armed forces, instead of the lower pay scale provided in the semi-civilian UMT.

The training plan is intended to provide a total of 161,000 trainees for the armed forces who, after one year of service, would go into Class A reserve units such as the National Guard for a period of four years.

Trainees, however, could not be sent outside the continental United States unless a national emergency developed.

McCLURE MACHINE SCORES VICTORY

CHESTER, Pa., April 28.—(INS)—Candidates of a well-oiled John J. McClure machine were elected to the Republican slate today with sweeping victories over their GOP "organization" opponents.

The McClure group nominees, headed by Benjamin F. James, of Villanova, who defeated Rep. E. Wallace Chadwick, of Rose Valley, for the congressional nomination in the seventh district, were also victorious in contests for state legislative and GOP convention delegate posts.

Army Plans For Large Maneuver

'Operation Assembly' To Take Place Around Camp Campbell, Kentucky

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(INS)—The army disclosed that the woods around Camp Campbell, Kentucky, are going to be full of soldiers next month—more soldiers than have been loose in United States woods since the war ended. The troops will be participating in "Operation Assembly," largest maneuver since the end of hostilities. They will be large enough to bring back some of the aspect of the Louisiana maneuvers in which troops were trained for World War II overseas duty.

Approximately 30,000 troops will take part in "Operation Assembly," which will consist of seizure of an airhead by the famous 82nd Airborne division, with air support provided by the Ninth Air Force.

The exercise calls for attack on an airhead by one airborne division—the 82nd—reinforced by ground fighting and supply forces. Opposition to the air drops will be provided by the army's ever-present "aggressor" force, composed of GI's in different uniforms representing an enemy.

"Operation Assembly" will begin on May 7 at Pope Air Force Base, N. C., when the troop carrier planes are loaded for their assault on the airhead near Camp Campbell. The next day, May 8, the initial drops of men and material will be made.

On the following day other drops will be made to supply the assaulting troops with reinforcements, ammunition, food and weapons. Meanwhile ground support will travel overland.

Women's Missionary Society held an all day meeting at the church Tuesday, with the day spent in quilting. The choir practiced in the church on Tuesday evening. Ladies of the church will serve dinner to the New Castle Kiwanis club at the church on Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Mid-week prayer and praise service will take place at the church on Thursday at 8 o'clock, with the subject, "Elijah, the Militant Prophet."

District 14 will hold its conference in the Leesburg church basement Friday, with a basket dinner planned at 6:30 p. m. Coffee and table service will be furnished. Conferences will be held under the heads of the various departments. The theme: "Christ and the Family Life." Election of officers and installation will take place.

Four More Steel Companies Refuse Increase In Wages

PITTSBURGH, April 28.—(INS)—Four more of the nation's leading steel producers had joined U. S. Steel today in refusing to grant the CIO United Steelworkers "substantial" pay boosts.

Latest to join the movement were Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Co., Pittsburgh Steel Co., and Crucible Steel Co. All announced their intentions yesterday.

At the same time, Ben Moreell, president of J. & L., indicated that his company intended to follow the lead set by "big steel" and reduce steel prices.

Solid Front
Bethlehem Steel also issued a statement declaring that its steel prices would be reduced by approximately $10,000,000.

Thus the steel industry was showing an almost solid front against pay hikes for steelworkers at this time.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., in Youngstown, O., indicated it planned to cut prices and also turn down wage demands.

J. & L., however, like U. S. Steel, indicated that the door to wage negotiations was being "kept open" pending success of the steel industry's experiment to stop the inflation spiral.

YWCA Pageant To Tell Growth Of Local Group

Observance Of Local "Y" Fortieth Anniversary Thursday Evening, April 29

DINNER AT 6:15 PRECEDES PROGRAM

For the YWCA 40th anniversary, on Thursday, April 29, Mrs. Roy Long, the program chairman, has written an interesting pageant gleaned from local manuscripts and the world history of the YWCA. It portrays the beginnings in England, New York and Boston, and in New Castle. Characters in the episode will be portrayed by early members of the New Castle association and their daughters and granddaughters in the costumes of each period.

The first episode 1855 shows the English beginnings with the leader of the Wesley Revival Prayer Unions and the leader of the Christian Boarding Homes for Crimean War Nurses and young employed women being portrayed by Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry, Frances Hamilton Byers (Mrs. John) and Ann Perry, granddaughter of Mrs. Sam Perry.

The second episode which shows the beginnings in New York and Boston will be portrayed by Miss Edice Norris, a Y-Teen adviser and granddaughter of Mrs. Joseph C. Norris, and Mrs. R. B. Withers, daughter of Mrs. Charles G. Long, both of the first YWCA board.

YWCA Opens Here

The beginnings in New Castle in 1907 will be shown by Mrs. Carrie Jeffrey Roberts, the chairman of the temporary organization committee, Miss Olivia Griffiths, the daughter of Mrs. J. B. Griffiths who together with Miss May B. White (portrayed by Mrs. John Elliott) discussed the need for a YWCA with Mrs. Asher, a worker in the Chapman evangelistic party.

A gym class in original gym costumes will lend a lighter note to these New Castle beginnings with Miss Emily Rice, Mrs. Mabel Hutchison Bollard and Miss Sue Cramer doing calisthenics in the 1908 manner.

The dedication of the new building which had been given to the Young Men's Christian Association by Ira B. Sankey in 1885 and purchased by the YWCA in 1914 will be portrayed by four of the board members of that time, Mrs. W. G. Eckles, Mrs. James T. Ray, Mrs. Frank Woods and Mrs. H. M. Kirk.

Elm Street Has "Y"

Next came the beginning of the Elm Street Center in 1919 with Mrs. James Smith, Jr., its first chairman, Mrs. C. F. Flannery, a committee member, and Mrs. Blanche Dillard and Mrs. Raymond Williams, two original members of the Elm street branch and of the present YWCA board.

In 1922 Camp East Brook was purchased from the Associated Charities and Mrs. W. G. Eckles, treasurer of the finance campaign, with Miss Helen Westlake and Marian Wallace Armstrong (Mrs. Robert) will be planning again the details of camp furnishings.

In 1922 high school girls first in the girls department, then Girl Reserves and now Y-Teens, will be shown by present day Y-Teens in former Girl Reserve capes.

The International Institute started in 1923, will be portrayed by Mrs. H. M. Kirk, its first chairman, Miss Ethel Moore for her sister Miss Emma, its early director, and several members of the first International Institute clubs who are still members of the YWCA.

Present Day YWCA

The last two episodes will show YWCA housing, employment and aid service and the ideals and all-inclusive Christian program of the YWCA of the present day.

Preceding the pageant all members of the YWCA, the YWCA trustees, Community Chest Board members and all senior Y-Teens are invited to a tureen dinner on Thursday at 6:15 DST.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 28.—(INS)—The Buffalo-Niagara Presbytery expressed "surprise and regret" today that a Presbyterian minister officiated at the Lana Turner-Henry J. Topping wedding.

A resolution, sent by the Presbyterian church group to the Los Angeles Presbytery, asked it to "administer such reprimand or discipline as the situation deserves."

The minister who performed the ceremony is the Rev. Stewart McLennan, retired pastor of the Hollywood Presbyterian church. The church decrees that a clergyman shall not marry divorced persons until a year has elapsed. Topping was divorced a week ago in Bridgeport, Conn., by former actress Alaine Judge.

Court House

Minor Disputes Mark Elections

No Serious Difficulties Encountered—Court Settles A Few Disputes

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Only minor disputes marked the primary election Tuesday, and Judges W. Walter Braham and John G. Lamoree had no real problems to adjudicate.

In one precinct a voter said he was building a home in another precinct. He still had his furniture in the old home, but for several weeks had been living with a relative in yet another precinct. The court ruled he was still a voter in the precinct in which he was registered.

In another precinct a state employee working in Harrisburg was challenged. She was registered in New Castle but had married a Harrisburg man. The court ruled that her domicile was the same as her husband and she was therefore not entitled to vote in New Castle.

Other calls came from polling places asking for interpretation of election laws, but none of them were marked by acrimony.

Do You Have . . . WASHDAY BLUES?

If you dread washday, a Blackstone Automatic Washer will make it the easiest day in the week. It takes the work out of washing. All you do is put the clothes in the machine, add a little soap, set the dial for the desired washing time, from 2½ minutes to 15 minutes, from there the Blackstone Washer takes over. You can spend the rest of the time relaxing. Sounds easy — is easy. Drop in for a demonstration.

Really WASHES!

The BLACKSTONE is an AGITATOR WASHER. It uses the same proven, efficient, gentle washing action universally approved in the wringer washers! You can be certain that your clothes will be spotlessly washed, unharmed and free of knots and tangles! It really washes clothes clean!

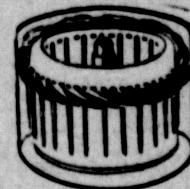

Really RINSES!

Only BLACKSTONE offers a scum-removing, double-action, agitated-rush rinse! After the tub automatically refills for rinsing, a complete change of clean water is introduced. As the agitator loosens dirt and soap scum which floats to the surface, a high velocity spray flushes this scum from the top of the tub before the water is drained out, so it cannot be redeposited in the clean clothes. It really rinses!

Really SPIN DRIES!

The BLACKSTONE tub develops such powerful centrifugal force — due to its size and speed of rotation — that most clothes are dried so efficiently they can be ironed at once! It can never twist or strain or tear the fabrics — nor break buckles or buttons! The swift, harmless centrifugal action of the BLACKSTONE really spin-dries!

Giants Extend Winning Streak To Six In A Row

Ott Men Merge Murderous Hitting, Canny Pitching

Take Phillies, 7-1 Behind Brilliant Chucking Of Larry Jansen; Ewell Blackwell Gets His Bumps For First Time; Braves Top Bums.

By LOU GARAVENTE

NEW YORK, April 28.—(INS)—The axioms in baseball are legion—sometimes impractical—but diamond sages contend they have a "can't-miss" formula for staying on top in the scramble for a flag—"win 'em quick; and win a pennant!"

Briefly, that rhetorical gem means this: The 1948 pennant races, particularly the National league, shapes up as a delightful jumble that will keep the contenders closer than a stamp on an envelope.

So, intone baseball's wise men, the team that comes up with a good winning streak early in the season may pick up the pennant marbles when October 1st rolls around.

"Win 'em quick" means winning streak, and veteran observers believe that with both leagues well-stocked with contenders, there will be few teams who go on a victory "bender". Some men who look intently into crystal baseballs have been so brash as to predict that one healthy winning streak may well spell the golden word—pennant!

The New York Giants hope the seer: are right. The Giants have a tidy string of six consecutive wins going for their right now, and the home run clubbers will not be adverse to continuing this pleasant habit.

As is the fortune of all winners, everything is clicking for the Giants. Their pitching, once a naughty word in the Giant dugout, has been the best in the league. The opposition, which used to bring its adding machines to Giant games, has scored but four runs in 37 innings, and Giant twirlers have gone the route in four of the last five games.

Hitting Clicks
The hitting, always a savage thing, now has the singular attribute of making minimum hits count for maximum runs. In the last four games, the Giants have scored 24 runs on 36 hits, or an average of two runs for every three hits.

Yesterday's 7 to 1 victory over the Phillies is an example of the "new look" in pitching and hitting. Larry Jansen, 21-game winner in 1947, flashed a brilliant three-hitter at Philadelphia to chalk up his first win in three starts. One of the hits was a home run by veteran infielder Bert Haas.

The Giants got nine hits—eight of them off rookie southpaw Curt Simmons—including a three-run homer by catcher Walker Cooper, his fourth of the year. It was a question of doing everything right.

The Boston Braves pinned the Brooklyn Dodgers with their third straight loss 3 to 2, although Boston only got four hits off Rex Barney. However, Bob Elliott got three of the hits, and drove in all of the runs, the "coup de grace" being his two-run homer in the third inning. Red Barrett was the winning pitcher.

Blackwell Falls
Ewell Blackwell tried to win his third game in eight days, but the Chicago Cubs pounded him for five runs in five innings to defeat the Cincinnati Reds 7 to 2.

The New Yankees clipped Joe Coleman for three runs in the first inning then called on their relief ace, Joe Page, to pitch out of an eighth inning jam to top the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 2. Eddie Joost hit a home run off Carl Droege in the third inning.

The St. Louis Browns won their third straight game by defeating the Detroit Tigers 9 to 6 in 11 innings on a single by Al Zarilla, the last of his four hits. Rookie Al Widmar was the winner. Hal Newhouser, who came on in the ninth, was the loser.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

FISHING season being here and the worm being in prominence as bait, causes the query: "Can the sex of a worm be told?" Some say yes, and others say no, hence the question today was put to Dick Williams of the Wallace block, a local fisherman. He said the sex of a worm can be determined, stating that, the male of the species has a pointed head, and the female has a yellow band around its body, just below the head. He said that, in his opinion, the female of the species when captured does not live long, and claims the male worm is more hardy. He claims one of the best ways to keep a worm alive is in rich, black dirt. "Toss in some lettuce leaves or grass," he advised. Some people place them in dirt, add coffee grounds and corn meal. Here & There tried this method on April 13, and the worms had all expired by April 26. Dick was asked about laying the worms between sheets of newspaper. "That is a good thing to do. The worms dry somewhat, become red and 'frisky'," he stated. Incidentally, Williams reported going fishing with several companions Friday night to Deer creek. "I counted 15 Ohio licensed cars between the Taylor farm and the mouth of the creek," Williams said. He remarked they all were fishing licenses.

"Twill be champ vs. champ May 5, in The Arena, when Bob Baker of Pittsburgh battles Bob Golden of Akron, in a heavyweight duel of fists. Baker reached the Golden Gloves finals in Madison Square garden, New York, but lost a disputed decision. Golden lost out in the finals of the Cleveland Golden Glove finals. . . . Elkins Brothers were technically stopped last week by Jimmy Freeman in Newark, N. J. He sustained a laceration above an eye and his manager, John Carter, surrendered the verdict. Brothers is practically matched to fight Art Williams of Pittsburgh, who defeated Joe Mason at Pittsburgh, last week. Joe Vitale of this city, and Ronnie Straw of Ellwood City, will show their mettle here May 5. . . . The schedule of City Baseball league teams will be printed within a day or two, so managers should watch the sports page in order to clip the schedule for future reference.

City Baseball league officials and team managers will meet at Carm De Leon's at eight o'clock Thursday. All representatives are required to bring a copy of the ground rules for the fields they will use this season, according to League Secretary Walter Hannon.

Slovonsky Host To Floor Teams

Gus Slovonsky, well known local business and sportsman, proved a very gracious host last evening as 12 members of his "Little and Big Five" basketball players sat down to a steaming repast at Sno-Top restaurant and dined on breaded pork chops with none of the trimmings missing. A most tasty morsel all through the course.

Owing to the severe electrical storm, several members of the two teams were unable to be present. It was an enjoyable party all the way through and the fellows voted Mr. Slovonsky a swell host and sponsor. One fine thing about the party was no after dinner speaking, quite a change from the usual run of mine banquets.

George Smith, general manager of the New Castle Chiefs announced today the signing of two more star performers for the local entry in the Mid-Atlantic league, and hopes to have them here for the Homestead Grays game Friday night that officially opens the 1948 season at P. J. Flaherty Field.

"We have strengthened up two positions which looked a little weak," Smith said, "by adding Jack Heiser, 24, a shortstop who played with Bristol, Tenn. in 1946 and Walter Mohoney a clever southpaw first baseman who hit .302 with Vandergrift last year, and was cut loose due to his age. He was a little old for a major league farm club. In 1946 Mohoney was with Martinsville in the North Carolina league."

Need Another Catcher

"We are still after a good catcher to help Adin Hoch out, and then we will be set for the league lifter," Smith stated. "We have a great pitching staff lined up, headed by Roger Vaillancourt, the French-Canadian fireball lefty; Hugh Grimshaw, Bill Zuraw and Ray Vincellette."

"By comparison we have a much better balanced team than last year at Niagara Falls where we finished second," was the way Smith put it. Friday night the Chiefs meet the Homestead Grays in an exhibition tussle at Flaherty field.

Homestead Grays Improved

The Homestead Grays have come up with a crop of new rookies this year. All of them were stars last year in semi-pro ball, and one of them, "Lefty" Bell, is already being rated as one of the greatest pitching finds in Negro baseball. Bell, a native of Lakeland, Fla., played with the Lakeland Tigers, a member of the Florida State league last year, winning 27 games and losing only one. A southpaw pitcher in his first appearance on the mound for the Grays against the Jackson Eagles in exhibition game struck out 13 men in six innings and got two hits in three trips to the plate, helping the Grays to win 17-0. Born January 12, 1922, the 26-year-old pitching star had been sought after by almost all the Negro major league teams, but up until his signing with the Grays had turned down all offers.

Another rookie star who has caused quite a sensation in Negro organized baseball so far this season is Bos Boston, 6-foot-4 210-pound youngster who starred for the East Liverpool Golden Stars, last year's East Liverpool city league champions, leading the league in batting and fielding. And who so far this year has been hitting consistently for the Grays.

Also showing great form in early season play, Willie Smith, pitcher, recently obtained from the L. & N. All-Stars of Birmingham, Ala., has two wins to his credit already, having beaten the New York Black Yankees and the Baltimore Elite Giants in exhibition games.

BETHANY COACH TO QUIT
BETHANY, W. Va., April 28.—(INS)—Don Phillips said today he intends to resign as head football coach at Bethany college at the end of the school year.

Phillips, who has been head coach since 1946 when he came out of the navy, said that the school's trustees wanted a winning football team but insisted on a similar pure athletic policy which provides no scholarships or aid to players.

Such a goal, he said, is impossible under the circumstances.
